MAJOR BILLS ARE STALLED BY FILIBUSTER

Committee Hearings On Foreign Relief, Reciprocal Trade and Other Matters Delayed

VITAL RULING COMING

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The senate filibuster went into its third day today, stalling possible floor action on major bills and delaying committee hearings on foreign relief, reciprocal trade and other matters.

House committees, however, were unusually active, taking up rent control, veterans pensions, oleomargarine taxes, a displaced persons bill and the big social security program.

The filibuster-with-the-Dixie-accents started Monday when southern lawmakers began an attempt to talk to death a resolution that would virtually kill the traditional filibuster as a minority weapon.

They branded the resolution as a move to put President Truman's civil rights program. They want to retain the filibuster for use against these bills when they come up later.

As long as the filibuster continues, no other action can take place on the senate floor. And even senate committees can't meet while the full body is in session unless the groups get unanimous approval of the senate. The southerners so far have not given this permission.

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said today he doesn't want any personal loyalty to him to sway Republicans on what may be a vital point in the effort to break the filibuster. This hinges on a cloture ruling, which Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said he would bring up tomorrow. Vandenberg ruled last year, when he was the senate's presiding officer, that a cloture—or debate limiting—petition can't stop senatorial talk about a motion. If the matter comes up again, this time it will be Vice President Barkley (D-Ky.) who must rule. Some are betting Barkley will reverse the Vandenberg ruling.

Miswhere in congress: Foreign aid—The senate foreign relations committee began its final study of the $5,580,000,000 European Recovery Program behind closed doors.

Pensions—The vast veterans pension bill was set to clear its last big hurdle—the house rule committee—today before reaching the floor for debate.

Oleomargarine—Those who favor continuance of federal taxes on oleomargarine were called to testify before the house agriculture committee. Backers of the repeal measure had their day yesterday.

Displaced persons—Ugo Carusi, chairman of the Federal Displaced Persons Commission, and Rep. Celler (D-NY) were called to testify before the house judiciary subcommittee on a bill that would let in more of Europe's homeless people.

Rent control—The senate-house economic committee voted 7 to 4 to extend rent control and came out for most of the president's economic measures.

Social Security—Opposition also developed to the president's proposal for extension of federal financial "home relief" to all needy persons, including those able to work.

INDUSTRIALIST DIES

Somerset, March 2—(AP)—Henry J. Davis, one of the men who helped make the steel industry great, is dead at 83. Davis, retired general superintendent of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. Harrington Gibbs. He observed his birthday on Monday. Davis retired in 1933 after 43 years' service with U. S. Steel Corp., parent body of Carnegie-Illinois.

Sale of Deshon Hospital Is Studied By Senate Committee

Harrisburg, March 2—(AP)—The possible conversion of the Deshon Hospital at Butler into a state mental hospital was studied today by a senate investigating committee.

"The state can use it and it can be converted without too much expense," we are going to try to secure possession, said Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong). Pechan is chairman of a seven-member committee appointed by the senate to investigate the proposed sale of the state-owned institution to the U. S. Veterans Administration at about 60 per cent of its cost.

Senate Finance Committee Sifts The Pros and Cons Of Administration Tax Program

Harrisburg, March 2—(AP)—The senate finance committee meets today to sift the pros and cons on Gov. James H. Duff's $443,000,000 tax program.

The house-passed measures came up at a closed meeting of the 15-member group as another senate committee received the second half of the administration's finance program—legislation to recreate two state authorities to carry out a $187,000,000 institutional and highway building program.

And Sen. John G. Snowden (R-Lycoming) announced that a third senate group—the highways committee—will hold a "private hearing."

Monday, March 7, on the much disputed gasoline tax increase. A house-passed bill would boost the four-cent gasoline tax to five cents a gallon.

These moves on the state's financial front came as other conferences—all very hush-hush—were held elsewhere behind closed doors to try to iron out wide differences over how drastically the 1947 local tax should be amended. If at all.

Proposals have ranged from outright repeal of the local tax law to measures to ban collection of wage taxes from non-residents of the municipalities imposing the levies. High on the list of proposals have been amendments to exempt from local taxes natural resources, farm and manufactured products.

All the adherents of the various proposals have been seeking the views of Gov. James H. Duff, the 1947 local tax law's most ardent supporter, on the controversial questions. So far, he has made no announcement.

Complicating the local tax picture was a demand by Allegheny county Democrats that the 1947 law be changed to give Allegheny county the same taxing powers granted municipalities and school districts two years ago.

The proposal was offered by Rep. Homer E. Brown (D-Allegheny) in the house at the same time Sen. Joseph Barr (D-Allegheny) and Allegheny county Democratic representatives introduced a score of measures designed to provide Allegheny county with some $5,320,000 in new revenue and savings.

The tax issue also brought a Republican and Democratic clash in the senate.

Assembly Has A Broad New Plan to Combat Delinquency

Harrisburg, March 2—(AP)—A broad, new program to combat juvenile delinquency in Pennsylvania has reached the general assembly.

Proposed by a committee of the legislature's Joint State Government Commission, the program calls for:

A three member Youth Conservation Board to coordinate drives for fighting youthful misbehavior, development of recreational programs and the punishment and training of youthful offenders.

The measures were submitted by Rep. Jeannette M. Dye (R-Mercer) and are patterned after the Youth Authority programs already in operation in a number of other states.

It provides for two new state institutions for the punishment of juvenile offenders—a new institution for defective delinquents in Centre county and an eastern Pennsylvania Training School at a site to be selected, and activation of a diagnosis and classification center at the Pennsylvania Industrial School at White Hill.

It also would give the conservation Board authority to set up experimental forestry camps for the training of youthful offenders in reforestation and road building programs.

Courts also would be given authority to send accused juveniles to the state classification center for diagnosis before sentencing, while youths found to be defective after sentencing would be returned to courts for new action.

At the same time, the legislative committee recommended that youth guidance clinics be established in the office of each county superintendent of schools. Local schools also would be encouraged to make school facilities available to child and adult groups after school hours.

HOUSE G. O. P. FRAME OWN TAX PROGRAM

Counter Proposal to Truman's Request for $4,000,000,000 Additional Revenue

REDUCE EXCISE LEVY

Washington, March 2—(AP)—House Republicans lined up today behind their own plan to cut taxes as a counter proposal to President Truman's request for $4,000,000,000 in additional revenue.

Without taking a definite stand on general taxes such as those on incomes, the GOP leadership came out strongly for cuts in excise taxes. These are imposed on train fare, telephone tolls, movie tickets, etc.

The Republicans proposed the reduction as "The first order of business" for the 81st Congress. The GOP decision was announced by Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts following the first meeting of the new Republican Policy Committee. This committee of 26 members was set up last month to speak for GOP House members on issues coming before Congress.

Its unanimous endorsement of the excise tax said the need is "immediate and imperative."

The new tax schedule backed by the Republicans is embraced in a bill already introduced by Martin, who said after the meeting he believes the Ways and Means committee will approve it or a substitute.

There are 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans on the Ways and Means group, and Martin predicted that five Democrats would vote with the Republicans on the excise tax issue.

The Senate-House Economic committee has gone on record in favor of cutting or removing taxes on such things as plane and train fares and oleomargarine.

The Republican bill would not disturb the present 50-per-cent-gallon tax on liquor. It would restore other excise rates to pre-war levels.

Rates on jewelry, furs and admissions would be cut from 20 per cent to 10 per cent; electric lights and bulbs, from 20 to 5; bowling alleys and billiard tables from $20 to $10 a year; cable, radio and leased wire messages, telephone tolls and cameras, from 20 to 10; films and photographic plates, from 15 to 10; transportation, 15 to 5; local telephone bills, 15 to 5; luggage, from 20 per cent on retail sales to 10 per cent on manufacturers; toilet goods, from 10 per cent on retail sales to 11 per cent on manufacturers.

The tax would be removed on sales of jewelry items retailing at less than $25.

The Republicans coupled with their tax cut demand an attack on President Truman's budget. They said it would commit the nation to "a spending spree" and "is padded by waste, extravagance, overlap and inefficiency."

The Republican leaders also took a temporary stand in opposition to the president's proposal to consolidate all federal social agencies into a Department of Welfare.

ONE KILLED IN HOTEL FIRE IN ROCK ISLAND

Rock Island, Ill., March 2—(AP)—One man was killed and three others injured in a fire which broke out in the top floor of the five story Harms hotel today.

More than 100 persons—including a one-legged man—fled from the hotel.

Edwin P. Scherer of Des Moines, Ia., left his artificial leg in his room and hobbled 100 feet down a hallway and descended down a ladder erected by firemen. He suffered minor injuries and was one of three men hospitalized. Firemen recovered his artificial leg in his room.

Russell Darnell, 46, of Davenport, Ia., lost his life in the blaze.

Kansas Preparing to Abandon Its 69-Year-Old Dry Status

Topeka, Kas., March 2—(AP)—Kansas, who consume $60,000,000 worth of liquor annually by official estimates, are about to make the stuff legal.

Almost any day now the state is due to abandon its 69-year-old prohibition law. In its place will be a control act legalizing the manufacture and sale of intoxicants.

Saloons will be banned. Liquor will be obtainable only in packages from privately-owned, state-licensed stores selling intoxicants only.

That much already has been approved by both branches of the state legislature.

But both the senate and house are at loggerheads over local option provisions, division of revenue and where the liquor can be consumed.

Kansans voted 422,294 to 358,210

Changes In Operation of V. A. Suggested By Hoover's Group

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The Hoover Commission today proposed "major improvements" in the operation of the Veterans Administration. It laid special emphasis on tightening VA education and insurance programs.

The commission reported poor management and waste in the education setup, inefficiency and delay in handling insurance problems and "serious internal organizational defects" in the agency as a whole.

In the ninth of its series of 15 reports to congress, the government reorganization group headed by former President Herbert Hoover offered six recommendations for improving the VA setup. The result, it said, would be "considerable savings." It did not mention an amount.

The commission said the agency should separate its insurance program from its other functions and set them up in a veterans insurance corporation.

It said the VA program of guaranteeing home loans for veterans should be turned over to the federal housing and home finance agency.

And it suggested that the VA set up its own list of certified schools, in addition to state lists of "accredited institutions," and that it refuse to pay GI tuition to any school not on its list.

The commission pointed out that in the year which ends June 30, 1950, the Veterans Administration will spend $5,300,000,000—about 11 per cent of the total national budget and more than any other federal agency except the military establishment and the treasury department.

YOUNG CANCER VICTIM DIES AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, March 2—(AP)—A 20-month-old cancer victim from Power Point, O., died today in the temporary home the child's parents had set up over a cancer clinic.

The baby, Pat Lightner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lightner, was first brought here Feb. 23 for treatment at the Drosnes-Lazebny clinic. Doctors had diagnosed the child's case as "hopeless."

Last Thursday the father took her back home to Ohio saying, "If Pat's case is so hopeless I want her with me." Saturday, however, the parents returned with the child and set up housekeeping in unused rooms above the clinic offices. The child has been receiving the treatment since.

Elks Plan For Visit of Grand Exalted Ruler Here March 17

At the semi-monthly meeting of the Warren Lodge of Elks held last evening officers for the ensuing year were nominated and other important business considered. The annual election will be held at the next meeting March 15.

During the meeting there was considerable discussion regarding the forthcoming visit of Grand Exalted Ruler George I. Hall, of New York City, who will be entertained at a reception in Warren March 17th. Mr. Hall will be accompanied by other grand lodge officers including F. J. Schrader.

The presence of the grand exalted ruler will attract the largest gathering of members of the B. P. O. E., in Warren since the visit of Grand Exalted Ruler John R. Cohen, in 1932. All officers of the state association as well as the North district and many from nearby New York state lodges.

The tentative program provides for the arrival of the distinguished visitor and party in Warren early in the afternoon. After luncheon he will broadcast a talk to school children of the borough from the studio of WNAE. There will be a reception at the Elks club preceding a banquet at the Warren State Armory at seven o'clock. Arrangements are being made to serve at least 500 at the dinner. ONE-STORY SCHOOL AT DYSART DESTROYED

Ebensburg, March 2—(AP)—School officials today looked about for new quarters for 120 grade pupils after a $35,000 fire yesterday destroyed the one-story school at Dysart.

Frank Cuomo, janitor, who discovered the fire, said it apparently started from an overheated stove or furnace.

Three school teachers led the pupils to safety and a group of young men helped fight the fire with garden hoses and a bucket brigade.

SUPERFORT CARRYING A CREW OF FOURTEEN LANDS IN TEXAS ENDING AN HISTORIC MISSION

Fort Worth, Tex., March 2—(AP)—A B-50 bomber came back home today from history's first non-stop round-the-world flight, its crew convinced that with the aerial refueling technique our bombers "can go anywhere in the world at any time."

The medium bomber, supplied four times by converted B-29 "flying gas stations" during its 23,108-mile trip came over its home field—Carswell Air Base—94 hours and one minute after its takeoff last Saturday.

The top command of the Airforce came down from Washington to welcome the 14 men. Air Secretary Symington shook their hands, told them "you've done a wonderful job, this is the finest team work."

Actually, this was the second try at the non-stop world flight. A B-50 took off last Friday, flew several thousand miles, then had to land because of an engine fire. A second B-50 was ready and left the Fort Worth base the following day.

From then on there was no trouble. Capt. James Gallagher, pilot and spokesman for the crew, in a news conference said: "Everything was quite normal about the whole flight. Everything worked out well."

There was "not a bit of trouble" in the tricky business of contacting the refueling tankers and then bringing aboard a gas replenishing load.

Yes, said the captain, they were all pretty tired, "but we did very well on sleep" during the long flight.

The 14 men gave two men for each position, so they relieved each other at the controls.

The crewmen had support in high places for their belief that this flight showed the combat capabilities of the aerial refueling technique.

The plane landed at 10:30:55 a. m. EST. Unofficial elapsed time for the world-girdling trip was 94 hours, one minute; an average speed of 239 miles per hour.

It was unofficially estimated that the Lucky Lady II flew 23,432 statute miles from its takeoff in Fort Worth around the world, non-stop and returning to Carswell Airforce Base. The world-girdling bomber took off from Carswell Base at 12:21 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, February 26.

It headed eastward, its first refueling point at the Azores Islands about 3,800 miles away. The next flying gas station was Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, 5,200 miles from the Azores.

The B-50's last refueling point was above the Philippines, a 4,900-mile trip.

Longest flight between tanker planes was from the Philippines to Hawaii, about 5,300 miles.

The last fill-up came over Hawaii. From there to the Fort Worth home field was a little more than 3,700 miles.

The B-50 is the postwar successor of the wartime B-29 super-fortress.

Closely resembling the B-29 in exterior appearance, the B-50 has considerably more speed, rate of climb, range and bomb-carrying ability.

B-29 Carrying Nine Missing In Luzon

Manila, March 2—(AP)—An American Air Force B-29 with nine men aboard was believed down in the lofty, unexplored Caraballo mountain range of northern Luzon today.

The bomber, overdue at Clark Field air base, was last heard from 90 miles from the field.

All available planes from Clark Field scanned the area northeast of the base today, but a heavy cloud formation hampered the search.

Brig. Gen. Jared V. Crabb, of the U. S. 13th Fighter Wing, said the plane was on a routine local flight when it disappeared. He said its home base was in the United States.

Some peaks in the Caraballo range rise to 9,000 feet.

Names of the men aboard the plane were withheld.

Letters to the Editor

Russell, Pa.
February 23, 1949

Times-Mirror
Warren, Pa.

To The Editor:

In reading the two "letters to the editor" regarding the bill pending in our State Senate permitting the securing of animals—unfortunate enough to land in the city pounds—for the purpose of use in laboratories I would like to add my voice in protest. Every animal lover and every person with humane instincts should write to State Senator John H. Dent, Harrisburg, Pa., minority floor leader and protest the Chapman Bill.

No animal should be subjected to torture in the name of science as on any other pretext. Vivisection is immoral. It violates all sense of decency. Animals live clean lives and do not owe humans anything involving suffering and death. We have no moral right to inflict disease and to cut and slash, starve and freeze and burn animal flesh. No lasting good can possibly result. Many reputable doctors concur in this.

Mrs. Myrna Traub says that she cannot read anti-vivisection literature "because it is so horrible". May I say that the who want to abolish this terrible blot upon civilization must know the facts and be able to combat its defenders. Reports of these facts must be broadcast—not burned. We must allow our sensitive feelings to interfere with the deeper pain suffered by the victims of this inhuman practice.

The only way to stamp out vivisection is to arouse public opinion and the only way to arouse public opinion is to acquaint the public with the facts.

How can any believer in the gentle Christ subscribe to vivisection? Did not He say "When ye do it unto the least of these, ye do it unto me"? All life is sacred and cruelty has no place in a Christian land.

Send for free literature and prepare to fight. Address: Anti-vivisection Society, 3243 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Become a member and stand up and be counted.

Warren Times-Mirror:

I just read so called Dog Lover's letter with something more than disgust.

I don't know your beloved Dr. Chapman or you, Dog Lover, and I'd be darned if I'd want to.

I feel sorry for you for somebody has been fooling you for the dogs that are used in vivisection are just plain murdered to see how much pain or how many operations they can take, without being put to sleep, before they die and not to find a cure for anything. If you don't believe it get some of the facts. People's pets are stolen and then butchered and it's illegal. What would happen if it were made legal? If a cancer cure is to be it will take a lot more than cutting a dog open to see his heart beat in pain.

Rats, mice, monkeys, rabbits, and guinea pigs are used for finding cures for our diseases; our pets, the dogs, for murderer's playthings. The above animals are put to sleep while being operated on or killed and then examined; but a dog is just strapped down and they start cutting. Our lawmakers kill the stray dogs in a quick and painless way, not tortured to death.

Dogs can save a lot more lives and do more good by being left alive. They protect our children, and our homes from kidnapers, burglars and other animals, and very often from drowning and fires. If you're a dog lover and vivisection is made legal you won't give them your dog—you'll shoot it.

Hot Stove Leaguers Ignore Wintry Blasts, Talk Baseball

It was cold and wintry outside the Warren municipal building last night, but inside—well, it might as well have been spring.

The occasion for all this mixup in the seasons was a meeting of 19 sports-minded persons from Warren and Starbrick to further plans for a local chapter of the National Hot Stove League.

The Hot Stovers, headed by Cy Butler, of Alliance, Ohio, promote baseball leagues in the summer, and baseball meetings and movies during the winter months, with emphasis on the nine to 14 age group boys.

Elected as officers for the local chapter last night were Charles W. Musante, president; Art Johnson, vice president; "Red" Swanson, secretary; and Geary V. Bean, treasurer.

Tentative plans call for enlarging on the Midweek and Intermittent League program which operated last year under the auspices of the Sports Boosters Association and the YMCA. It is hoped that midweek and intermediate teams can be organized in each of the nine wards in Warren borough, and also in Starbrick and Pleasant township.

There also was considerable discussion on ways and means of procuring more diamonds for the teams in various sections of town.

Any boy between the ages of nine and 14 in Warren, Starbrick and Pleasant township will be eligible to play in the league. The group also plans to make it possible for the youngsters to attend major sports events here.

League officers plan to have Hot Stove membership cards printed within the next few days. These will be sold at $1 each for adults and 25 cents for youngsters. The funds will be used, along with contributions from businesses, clubs and interested individuals, to help equip the various teams and pay the expenses for operating the baseball wheels.

Art Johnson, who was named chairman of the Finance Committee, will make a report at the next league meeting, slated for the municipal building on Tuesday, March 15, at 7:30 o'clock.

Attending last night's meeting were Ben Buckhorne, Red Swanson, Emory Morrison, Nick Creola, Tony L. Notoro, Geary Bean, Amos West, George Osaba, Tony Tomasick, Albert W. Toner, Harry H. Black, Bob Moorhead, Art Johnson, Ken Whusner, Pike Peterson, Charles Musante, Ray Caldwell, Bob Johnson and Mrs. R. Walsh.

Attorney and Mrs. George M. O'Hara and Miss Elizabeth Mellers, all of Franklin, were injured Monday in an automobile accident 13 miles east of State College, where they were enroute to Franklin from Philadelphia. Miss Patricia O'Brien, also of Franklin, a passenger in the car, which was being operated at the time by Mrs. O'Hara, escaped unhurt.

FLOOD PROJECT REJECTED
The budget bureau, which speaks for President Truman, has turned thumbs down on a proposed flood control project for Bradford, Pa. By Senator Myers in Washington told a reporter when informed of this that he will continue to urge congressional approval of the work. The project, which it is estimated would cost the government $6,466,700 and local and non-Federal interests $1,442,400, has been recommended by the chief of Army engineers.

Titusville Herald: As a result of the recent retirement of D. A. V. Engineer H. M. York, Engineer C. A. Schulenburg of Dunkirk, is now on the run vacated by York. Being the next in seniority, Engineer John Johnson of Dunkirk, now has the run vacated by Schulenburg. Train No. 14 leaves here about 5 p. m. and No. 1 arrives in some time between 3 and 6 a. m.

EX-PUBLISHER DIES
Adam Boyd, 82, former owner of the Union City Times Enterprise and the Waterford Leader, died Sunday in Dunkirk Hospital. He had been in failing health for several years and Saturday was taken to the hospital. Born in Waterford in July, 1867, Mr. Boyd spent most of his life in Union City. He worked as a linotype operator on the old Erie Herald and Union City Times before he became a part owner. He sold his Times interest about 25 years ago and then bought the Waterford Leader which he operated until seven years ago when he retired because of ill health. Both papers are now owned by Will Rose. Since his retirement, Mr. Boyd has made his home with a daughter, Mrs. Charles Driscoll, at Dunkirk. He was one of the first members of

LOAD OF EGGS IN WRECK
Some customers of T. A. Anderson's egg route in Cory went unserved Monday as the result of an accident on East Main street which scattered 40 dozens of eggs throughout the interior of his car. Mr. Anderson parked his car at the side of the roadway to make a delivery in the afternoon, when a second vehicle operated by Ernest Buehkofer of R. D. 2, spun out of control and smashed into the rear of Anderson's 1937 Chevrolet sedan, spilling the carton of eggs. With some of the eggs being salvaged, the loss was estimated at about $15. Mr. Anderson's car was damaged slightly while the second machine was damaged more extensively.

RESEARCH AGREEMENT
The Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association has renewed its crude oil production research agreement with Armour Research Foundation, Chicago, Ill., calling for an expenditure of approximately $20,000 in 1949, according to Association officials. The research project embraces a fundamental study of the mechanisms by which so-called "wetting agents" might be used to increase the recovery of petroleum by a water flooding process. The objective is to select an agent which is sufficiently efficient and economical for use by oil producers. Such an improvement, Association officials said, would be particularly applicable to secondary recovery oil fields of the country where underground water floods are used to drive petroleum to producing wells.

100 Years of Odd Fellowship In Warren Outlined In Paper

The first of two events celebrating the 100th anniversary of Warren Lodge No. 339, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was held last evening with a tureen dinner at 6:30 o'clock, followed by the regular weekly session during which a brief history of the lodge was read by Howard D. Kinkead, chairman of the committee in charge.

About 75 members attended the tureen dinner and over 125 were present at the lodge session, including visitors from Sugar Grove, Lottsville, Union City and Foxburg, Harold Fullmer, noble grand, was in charge. Following the business session a social time was enjoyed.

The committee reminded of the plans for the anniversary banquet and program planned for April 30th, when it is expected all grand lodge officers will be present. The dinner will be served in the YWCA and it is expected about 300 will attend. A program to which the public will be invited, will be held in the High School auditorium following the dinner.

LeRoy Schneck, WNAO commentator, was present during a recording of the program and made a recording.

The committee in charge of the anniversary observance in addition to Mr. Kinkead includes Clarence Agren, Edmund Baird, Ray Farnsworth, Horace Pangborn, William Rohrer, Howard Van Orsdale and Harold Fullmer.

The history of the lodge as read by Mr. Kinkead last evening covering the 100 years of the Lodge, follows:

Two days ago, February 27th, this lodge was one hundred years old. It was instituted in the hall on the third floor of the Carver House.

Henry S. Patterson was Grand Master at that time. The initiation was conferred by O. D. Spofford of Erie, assisted by members of Elliott Lodge of Jamestown, N. Y.

The charter members were John A. Hull, J. W. Fletcher, A. J. Davis, J. H. King, Stephen Carver and Henry Morrison. Three of this number retained their membership until, two withdrew and one was suspended for non-payment of dues.

During the day and evening sessions, thirteen persons were proposed and elected to membership and were initiated and two joined by card, making a total of twenty-one members.

In March of the same year, an accident occurred at Shipman's Eddy, when it was necessary to amputate a man's leg. A doctor by the name of A. D. Vorheis, who was on a raft immigrating with his family to Virginia was called and did the operating at once. Soon after some of the lumbermen condemned the doctor and preferred charges of malpractice. The doctor was arrested in Ohio and brought back to Warren. Being an Odd Fellow, he appealed to the lodge for protection. The members went his bail and assisted him in securing the signature of four local doctors, who said it was necessary to operate in order to save the man's life, which aroused public opinion and charges were withdrawn.

During the year 1849 the lodge increased its membership to 40 members and in 1850 added 60 more.

In August, 1850, the first charge to be preferred against a brother was made. The brother was found guilty to a limited degree and was ordered to pay a fine of $2.00 and stand suspended until the resolution was complied with. He felt aggrieved at the decision of the lodge and let himself stand suspended and never again affiliated with the Order. In the first 25 years of the lodge, we find charges were preferred against 11 brothers, six were expelled, one was restored to membership seven years later, four confessed and were reprimanded by the noble grand in open lodge, and, as stated, one let his suspension stand. At that time, three of these brothers were very influential men of the town.

At this time I will read a report of Rufus F. King, the first representative to the Grand Lodge at Philadelphia: "In company with W. O. Blodgett of Sugar Grove Lodge, we found many prominent members in attendance, among them Judge Bradford, Hon. H. Kneass, W. H. Lamberton and A. V. Parker, who later was elected governor of the state."

In the year 1850, the growing business of the Carver House forced Brother John H. Hull to ask the lodge to find other quarters as soon as possible. The Watson & Davis building, being under construction at the time, the lodge purchased the third floor and held their first meeting in the new hall January, 1851. The place was sold to Watson & Davis in 1872 and the lodge moved in 1873 to a building at the corner of Water Street and Second avenue, where the Savings bank now stands.

Later, the lodge moved to the Exchange building at the corner of Liberty and Second avenue. On August 6, 1872, the lodge purchased land on the corner of Liberty and Second avenue and borrowed money from the members to pay for same. In January, 1875, the lodge abandoned the idea of building and sold the land and purchased the third floor of the Allen building, then in construction, at the corner of Liberty and Second avenue, where the Warren National Bank now stands. In the year 1893 the lodge sold their holdings to the Warren National Bank and moved to Hickory street, where the New Process Company is now located. The present building was purched in 1905 and moved in during July, 1908. In August, 1931, Thumilda Lodge No. 442, I.O.O.F. was instituted in this place and did all of their work in the German language and held their meetings in Warren lodge hall. We do not find any record of when this lodge was disbanded.

Christovetta Lodge No. 373, was instituted at Columbus in the winter of 1850-1851; Southwest Lodge was instituted at Enterprise in 1853, and Youngsville Lodge No. 500, in 1854. In each case, members withdrew from this lodge to start these other lodges and all are suspended, except Youngsville, which will, in another five years, celebrate their 100th anniversary.

Sugar Grove had the first lodge in the county but we do not know what year or how long it was in existence.

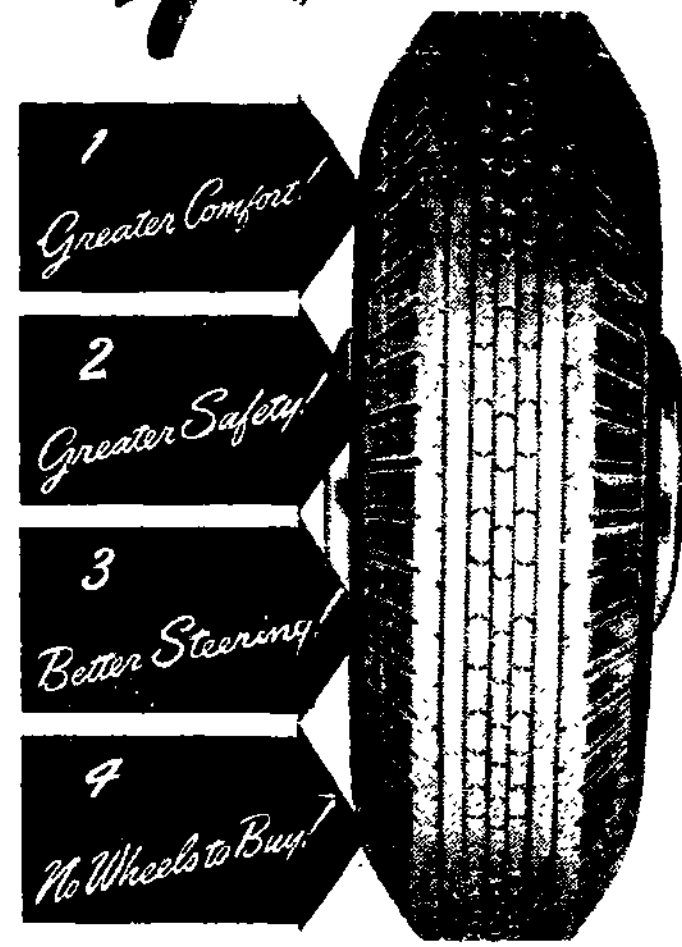

From 1854 to 1880 there were no initiations made into the lodge, during which time suspension for non-payment of dues reduced the membership to twenty-two. During the reactions in these years, the suspensions of nearly half of the lodges in the state and throughout the country caused no little concern as to the fate of Odd Fellowship. In April, 1882, this lodge only reached to 35 members. The few members that remained held on with hopes that the brothers would return to the fold and their hopes were fully rewarded.

On December 15, 1858, the lodge was used by the citizens for a ball in honor of the opening of the Sunbury & Erie R. R. The largest crowd that was ever in the hall.

We find that the courts of Warren county in 1858 issued a charter to a group of men to establish a cemetery to be known as Warren County Cemetery. Nothing seemed to be done about this, so in 1862, the lodge appointed a committee of five members to consider and report upon the propriety of purchasing suitable ground and establishing a Citizens Cemetery.

In 1862, the trustees were directed to purchase a piece of land from Thomas Struthers and several members signed a joint note and purchased same for $2,100.00 and on October 12, 1863, Oakland Cemetery was dedicated. In 1865, the lodge decided to erect the present monument on the Odd Fellows lot, which was done at a cost of $3500.00, the money being raised by popular subscription.

In 1867, the noble grand appointed a committee to look into and report to the lodge the advisability of procuring a charter and building a bridge across the river. We cannot find any report of this committee. In 1868 the lodge sold the ferry that was used to cross the river. A motion was made that a committee be appointed to ascertain the advisability of procuring a charter from the State of Pennsylvania and sold same in the name of the lodge for the construction of a toll bridge across the river. Out of this committee, a company known as the Pleasant Bridge Company was organized. A number of the lodge members individually, as well as the lodge and Oakland Cemetery held stock in the company and the old suspension bridge was completed in 1872. In later years, the bridge was acquired by the commissioners of Warren county and opened to the public without toll. It served its purpose many years and was then replaced by the present concrete bridge.

During the early years of the lodge, we find the names of prominent members, who retained their membership until their death, such as: Rufus F. King, Andrew Hartzel, Charles Chase, John McWilliams, S. W. Waters, and A. J. Davis, who was the last charter member and was active until declining years forced him to cease. He passed away June 20, 1910.

A BUSINESS REPORT

To our customers and prospective customers

Reading Time—2 minutes, 30 seconds

Since the opening of our store a little over two years ago we have enjoyed a Gas Range business as large if not larger than any other in Warren County. Many of these ranges replaced stoves that the owner of this business had sold over 20 years ago. We have built the largest Propane Bottled Gas customer list in this area. All of this has been due to several factors, three of outstanding importance:

- 1.—A host of personal acquaintances who have been aware of our close association with the Stove Industry over a period of many years.
- 2.—Customer satisfaction resulting from good value and good service.
- 3.—A unique mileage allowance that makes a good value still better. We pay you as much as $1.00 per mile to drive to Russell, Penna., for your new range. (Basic Allowance). This mileage is deducted from the already low price tag and the saving to you is really worth while.

When this store was opened stoves were in short supply and price gouging was in effect in many places. Yet, we offered our customers a full size, well-made table top gas range for $99.50. In the ensuing two years, prices climbed to record levels, yet we held our range prices firm while quality and features improved. Bottled Gas prices increased on an average less than 6% per 100 lbs. which is a normal 3 months supply, for the average family less than 15 cents per month. Bottled Gas installation costs are now over 24% LOWER. Wherever and Whenever costs can be reduced, these savings will be passed on to you.

Today our range stock for city gas and Bottled Gas is the most attractive and represents the biggest dollar for dollar values we have ever seen. Whether you cook for 1 or 1000 we have the cooking equipment you want, at the price you want to pay. If and when a new range is on your mind—come in—you will not be asked to buy—but if you do—you will save money.

TOUR MAY BE TRIAL BALLOON

President Truman has hinted that he may "make another tour around the country to tell the people how their government is getting on." If he does, in the opinion of James Thrasher, NEA Service editorial writer, the trip is bound to be quite different from his surprising and triumphant campaign journey of last fall.

This time he won't have a "do-nothing 80th Congress" as a target. This time it is a Congress led by his own party. Thus it is a less vulnerable target than the one that took all those paralyzing Truman haymakers. This one will require more stylish and scientific punching.

Yet Mr. Truman was still throwing haymakers in his speech at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner. "All we have on our side," he said, "is the people." He made clear his belief that he and the people are being fought in Congress by "the special interests," who are represented by lobbyists, pressure groups, controlled editorial pages, columnists and commentators, and full-page ads.

If Mr. Truman really believes that, then he is telling the people, in effect, that they made a futile gesture in replacing a Republican with a Democratic leadership in Congress.

When Mr. Truman was charging a Republican leadership in Congress with being the vassals of big business, he was greeted by encouraging shouts of "Give 'em hell, Harry!" But similar charges against a Democratic leadership might bring questions of "Well, why aren't you doing something about it?" And it might be somewhat embarrassing to make an answer.

Mr. Truman is the head of both the government and the Democratic Party. If, in that position, he had to answer that he was unable to persuade or force his fellow-Democrats in Congress away from the side of the "special interests" to the side of "the people," it would be rather an admission of weakness. It would also suggest that, since he had no control over Congress, his party could hardly prove itself the party of "the people," as advertised.

Mr. Truman is irked with Congress because it does not see eye to eye with him on new legislation and the timetable of its enactment. The Democratic congressman, no less than the President, are pledged to carry out their party's platform promises. But since Congress is an equal, not a subordinate branch of government, the Democratic leadership doubtless feels that it has the right to differ with Mr. Truman on details.

Since Mr. Truman has proved himself an astute politician with a remarkable sensitive feeling for public sentiment, he probably has already planned his next move. It seems doubtful to us that he would ask the people's permission for a leave from his exacting duties in order to stump the country with a message that this Democratic Congress is as "do-nothing" as its Republican predecessor. And it is doubtful that he, as a loyal party man, would embarrass the party further by pressing this line of argument.

After all, the differences between Mr. Truman and his colleagues on Capitol Hill are largely of degree rather than kind. The President surely knows this. He also knows how keenly any Congress feels about its equality and independence, and how bitterly it resents any slurs on his integrity.

So it may be well that the Jefferson-Jackson charges were in the nature of a trial balloon. Mr. Truman, we believe, is too smart a man and too much of a realist to go on tour in the rather unbelievable role of a shining knight engaging single-handed the dragon of corruption.

LENTEN SERMONETTE
The Rev. William T. Lane, Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church

PENITENCE

"God saved us and called us with a holy calling, not in virtue of our works but in virtue of His own purpose and the grace which He gave us in Christ Jesus ages ago." 2 Timothy 1:9.

As we enter into the Lenten period let us roam with our thoughts down through the ages to those days long ago when men gathered around the great teacher and listened to His words of wisdom and of life. As we think of those days let us picture in our minds that great masterpiece of art, Corneille's painting of the temptation of Jesus. In it He shows us the masters eyes and face in deep thought. Over the right shoulder of Jesus the dim outlines of the evil one are seen, as if he were whispering temptations to him. Jesus has to make the choice between the easy and the hard way. He chose the latter.

Jesus might have offered physical bread, the satisfaction of the senses and appetites, the lowering of standards to men to save; but only the "Bread of Life" would satisfy in the end. He might have offered sensations, magical tricks, a "Showing off"; but things of God dare never be used for self-glorification. He might have compromised with evil, set up an earthly kingdom, sold his soul; but Jesus chose the cross.

We turn our thoughts again to us to-day and we see that we too must show penitence to gain that sacrificial love of Christ. To do penance is to sacrifice something in order to show our love for Him who went the way of the cross for us. It is easy to give up some things and hard to put off others. There we stand in the place of Christ deep in thought with the Evil One looking over our shoulder and whispering temptations to us. We too must make a choice, will it be the easy way or the hard. Whatever that choice may be let us above all make it a sacrifice of our love. Sacrificial love for our fellowmen, the kind of love that Christ showed to the world.

Here And There

Fifty years ago when bicycling was the popular pastime for citizens of Warren as well as others throughout the country, there was considerable agitation for legislation to provide financing for what was known as "sideways." The bill was known as "sideways" because it was the following from our issues of March 2, 1899: "A bicycle enthusiast yesterday outlined a 'sideways bill' known as a house bill Number 28, and presented by E. W. Farshall, of this city, which has been offered to the legislature that offers fewer objectionable features than most legislation intended for the benefit of one class. The idea provides that whenever at any time 25 freeholders, owners and riders of bicycles in a certain section shall petition the county judge for a sidewalk the judge shall appoint a commission of three men to serve without pay except necessary expenses to oversee the construction of the path as finally allowed by the court. The funds for such paths to be provided by a tax not to exceed $1.00 upon each and every owner of a bicycle within the county, the said tax to be collected at the same time and manner as other taxes and by the same collector. This would not entail any extra expense on the county and the costs of the improvement would come from the pockets of the people benefited. Another provision of the bill would be that the work be let by contract and the parties along the right-of-way who desired it should be given work on the construction. It is an utter impossibility to keep the average country road in fit condition for bicycle travel yet every year there is a great increase in the number of persons who not only ride for pleasure but who make their bicycle a business vehicle. A method whereby they would pay for these improvements or benefit only to themselves should have few objectors."

This and that: Today was observed as Ash Wednesday in churches throughout the Christian world. It also ushered in the most sorrowful days of the liturgical year, the Lenten season. Lent, the greatest period of fasting in the Christian church, began today and will continue for forty days, not including Sunday, and will end at noon on Holy Saturday, April 16, the day before Easter. In Catholic churches there was the annual distribution of ashes.

Credit Buying Curbs Hurt, but Maybe They're Good Medicine

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Pressures on the Federal Reserve Board to ease up on bank reserve requirements and on installment buying restrictions have been hot and heavy ever since the current rules were announced last Sept. 20. And now that FRB Chairman Thomas E. McCabe has told the Joint Congressional Committee on Economics that he favors extension and some enlargement of credit restrictions, the clamor may be expected to increase.

The case of the used car dealers offers as good an example as any of what is going on. Before the war there were 7000 used car dealers in the United States. Today there are 40,000. Reasons for this nearly six-fold expansion are fairly obvious. In the hopes of making a killing in the postwar market, without price controls, the number of used car dealers has zoomed far above what will be required to handle the normal turnover of used cars in a stabilized market.

In the process of shaking down this business to proper size, a lot of enterprising dealers with too big an inventory and not enough capital are going to get hurt. Some of them have been hurt already. They are the ones yelling the loudest for Federal Reserve to relax on Regulation W credit restrictions. It now prescribes that car buyers must pay one-third down and the balance within 15 months if the price is under $1000, or 18 months if the price is over $1000.

On 11 other lines of furniture and household appliances down payment must be one-fifth of the purchase price, but the time limits are the same as for cars.

In considering any relaxation of these requirements, Federal Reserve Board has to feel its way carefully. One line of argument is that the big down payment works against a hardship on people of low income who may have the worst need for cars and home furnishings. Another approach is that since the supply of higher-priced cars and furnishings has now caught up with demand, there might be some manufacturing unemployment caused by inability to sell because of credit restrictions.

For the protection of consumers, however, the board must consider whether it should allow buyers to go too deeply in debt while the prices of all goods bought on the installment plan are high. If a real depression should set in, all such time purchasers would be caught in as bad a way as they were when the crash came in 1929.

In a recent 8000-mile swing through the West, visiting Federal Reserve Banks and branches, Chairman McCabe says he found overwhelming support for continuation of Regulation W. Also, he found support among bankers for continuation of and extension of Federal Reserve controls on bank reserves.

These two actions, it is felt, have materially helped in changing the economic outlook. The banking system is in a sounder condition than it has ever been. The banks themselves have done a lot of self-policing. There has been no stock market spree. And controls can easily be relaxed if the financial community gets in trouble.

Six months ago everyone wanted an adjustment and a reversal of inflationary trends. But now that these things are beginning to be realized, it is being revealed that not all businessmen were fully prepared for them. For perhaps the first time in eight years, retailers have real competition in merchandising problems. Customers aren't willing to take whatever is offered them. If the price is high, they demand quality. If they can't get what they want, they're willing to wait.

Instead of merely sitting in their stores and taking or filling orders when the customers roll in, merchants now have to get out and sell. If in this approach to a buyer's market the creative forces of the country again have to go to work, competitively fighting for business, it is bound to be a healthy thing.

MacKenzie's Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
A. P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain already is getting set for the great political struggle which will determine whether she is to continue along the road of socialism or revert to conservatism. It's just over three and a half years since the Labor party swept into power under leadership of Clement Attlee and established England's first all-Socialist government. It was an amazing shift of public opinion. It brought the downfall of the great Winston Churchill, wartime prime minister who was idolized as the man who had led the empire through its trial of "blood, toil, tears and sweat."

England, with her imperial trappings and traditions, has had a fair initiation into Socialism—enough so that she knows what it is. Under normal circumstances June of next year will bring another general election. Then the country will take stock and decide whether she will stick to her leftist course or swing back to the right.

The Socialists have nationalized numerous undertakings in capitalistic Britain. Among them are overseas airways, the Bank of England, cable and wireless communications, the coal miners, railroads, and inland water transport, and the electricity supply. A socialization measure is now before parliament, and the chemical industry is a possibility.

The government even has dared the political elements by providing universal free medicine. This naturally has been met with mixed emotions, but it is popular with the man in the street.

How far does the Socialists go with nationalization? The government has been watching general reaction closely and anxiously. Socialism is on trial in a big way in England. It can make or break itself before next year's election.

The party has held that the public reaction seemed far enough. In some thirty parliamentary elections since the socialist government came to power, it hasn't lost one. Then last week came an outstanding test in a by-election at South Hammersmith.

South Hammersmith normally is conservative, but has been held by Labor since the last general election. Consequently it was made a testing ground. The great Churchill himself hurled some of the world's most powerful oratory into the campaign.

Labor won, and set the conservatives back on their heels. So, with this political gauge to go by, we find both parties swinging into action to get set for the still distant general election.

The eyes of the world will be on that election. It will be one of Socialism's most important tests thus far in any nation.

Society Offered High School's Evening Of Plays

Both light comedy and tense tragedy await those who go to the Evening of Plays to be given by the Warren High School Dramatic Club under the direction Miss Kathryn Martin Thursday, March 10.

A woman who fights on Sunday to pay a fine of five pesos, according to an old law still enforcing in old Mexican villages. "Sun-Costs Five Pesos" by Joseph Negretti is an hilarious account of a quarrel between Berta and a girl with whom her lover has a fling. Complications are added by a friend who aggravates jealous friction and by the whose penalty no one wants pay.

The second play, "A Night at an Inn" by Lord Dunsany, is a mystery. A ruby eye has been stolen in a large idol in an ancient temple. Who stole the ruby? It will be done with it? The knows who stole it and has three priests to retrieve it. It he succeed? Everyone must to the Evening of Plays and out.

When two teen-agers start to study courses in psychology and biology and to apply their newly acquired theories to the lives of their parents, something complex bound to occur. Both families in a modern comedy, "It's So Complex" by Mildred Hark and Mel McQueen, become greatly amused.

The Dramatic Club is promising an evening of enjoyable entertainment in this year's production of Evening of Plays.

Our New Homes

What does a woman want in her new home? Everything ranging from one-way glass in the front doors to radiant heating on the driveways to melt snow and save hubby the trouble of shoveling, the National Association of Home Builders reports. Mrs. Maude Butler, builder in Tulsa, Okla., offers some of the answers received in a survey of 3,000 women as to their preferences if they were building a home:

A New Yorker asked for the radiant heat in garage and driveway. A woman in Arkansas wants a tool cabinet built in the garage so her husband will stay home more. One suggested no overhead lights in bedrooms, because "a woman looks 10 years younger when light does not shine in her face." The single story ranch-type house was almost a unanimous choice, although some preferred the more traditional models. Lights in the front steps to minimize falls were suggested, as was a kitchen in the middle of the house, with all other rooms accessible from it. Ninety-nine per cent wanted dining rooms, and all wanted a combination kitchen where breakfast could be served. More closets was a universal cry, with larger bedrooms in popular demand.

Practically everywhere you go, people are still talking of the wonders of the Vienna Boy Choir presented here last week by the Jayces concert committee. We were struck with the thought that many choir members might readily take a lesson from the boys on attention to the director's demands. "Galloping Ghosts" is the title of the production selected by the Junior Class of Youngville High School, rehearsals having been held up until the close of the basketball season. We are told the name of Mrs. M. J. Chrisman was incorrectly given in a recent announcement of the Warren Relief Association's directors for 1949. She serves in the eighth ward. It will interest friends to learn that Mrs. C. Wiles Hallock and two children have left Union City to return to their home in Laramie, Wyo. Latest reports in the signs of spring department include wild pussy willow, bumblebees and the cawing of crows.

Reception Of Mardi Gras Ball Assures Its Becoming An Annual Players Affair

The Mardi Gras Ball, staged at the Outing Club last evening by the Warren Players, met with a reception by nearly 100 couples, that assured its retention as an annual institution.

From the opening strains of music at nine o'clock by Harry Summers' band, through the choice of the King and Queen, the floor show, refreshments, and the closing strains of the theme song, the night was a dull moment.

The attendance was typically Mardi Gras—slightly over half in costume, some in formal dress, and some informal, but all congenial.

The decorations, with the mildly tipsy looking street lights and the gay colored banners, gave just the right atmosphere, and once the music started, all thoughts of the ice and snow outside were forgotten.

Roy Schneek emceed the popular selection of the King and Queen, and after a close contest between Carmen Miranda and the Hunchback of Notre Dame versus a very disreputable Hobo and a Pistol Packing Mama, the latter pair, identified as N. L. Neumaier and Ann Hultberg, were officially crowned and enthroned by Frank Cruikshank, president of the Warren Players, after which their prizes were presented.

The special prizes were awarded by Jane Weaver Jones and Astrid Cowden, the men losing out in this instance.

The floor show began with selections by "The Gentlemen of Note", our youngest barbershop quartet, which was very enthusiastically encored. Nancy Lee Plummer followed with a delightful "Can-Can" dance, after which George Cunningham gave a repeat performance of his amusing skit from the North Warren Minstrels, and, as a conclusion, Fred Abbott, former president of the Jamestown Players, and Ruth Dulcy performed an exhibition waltz which left everyone abashed yet anxious to dance again.

After a few more dances and some not quite black coffee, the ball came to a conclusion, with all concurring that it had been enjoyable throughout.

Heart Attack Causes Death Of Dr. White

Former parishoners and many other friends in the community have received with regret the news that Dr. Morris A. White, retired Methodist minister, died of a heart attack on Tuesday in New Castle, where he had resided since 1941.

Dr. White served First Methodist church of Warren from 1912 to 1917 and was later located in Titusville. He returned from the active ministry at his church in 1941 and went to New Castle with his sister, Miss Mary Alice White, to take up permanent residence.

A native of New Castle, he was graduated from the high school at that place, and later from Allegheny College and the Garrett Biblical Institute at Northwestern University.

He began his ministry in 1898 and served successful pastorates in some of the largest churches of the Erie Conference, including Greenview, First church in Warren, First church in Franklin, and Oil City.

He served as a member of many conference boards, was superintendent of the Jamestown District, was named delegate to the General Conference of the denomination and was a trustee of Allegheny College for a score of years.

Details had not been learned at press time this afternoon, but services in his memory will be held in New Castle on Friday.

Law Moves Against Mail Order Romeo

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 2 (AP)—The law moved today against a mail order Romeo and his woman confederate in a ghastly story of a "lonely hearts" racket.

Three deaths of two women and a small child—were in the background.

Fading murder charges were swarting, belding Raymond Martinez Fernandez, 34, and his girl friend, rocky Maria Beck, 29, three-married divorcee and mother of two children.

Prosecutor Roger C. McMahon said both had made "full confessions" and told freely of incorporating murder in an "easy money" scheme of lonely women.

McMahon said he would ask first degree murder charges against the pair in the slayings of attorney Mrs. Delphine Downing, 38, a widow, and her 16-month-old daughter, Pamela.

Bodies of the mother and daughter were dug out of cement-lined graves in their home between care and nearby Byron Center yesterday.

Last night, working on information from Grand Rapids police, authorities in New York dug up the body of a woman in a South Oranoe Park, Queens, cellar.

She was not immediately identified.

Here, however, Prosecutor McMahon said that Fernandez and Mrs. Beck declared the woman was their victim—a Mrs. Janet Fay—and that they had beaten and strangled her.

As indicted by police, the Hawaiian-born Fernandez and black-haired Mrs. Beck, who weighs 200 pounds, gave a shocking story.

It led from the south to the west, and the midwest as the pair posing as brother and sister plauding unwitting women of thousands of dollars.

AUTHORITY BILL ON WAY TO THE SENATE

Harrisburg, March 2—(AP)—An authorization plan to finance a $187,000,000 building program through self-financed authorities went from the House to the Senate today.

The program revives the General State Authority to operate a $147,000,000 building program. It also authorizes a separate Bridge and Highway Authority to set up to conduct a $40,000,000 road building program.

Superfort Carrying a Crew Of Fourteen Lands at Texas Base After Historic Flight

Whitney 3,500 horsepower engines, the B50 has a top speed of 4,000 miles an hour, a cruising speed around 300 and can climb to 40,000 feet. Its bomb capacity is stated at 10 tons. Its maximum range (without in-flight refueling) at 6,000 miles. Its wing span is 141 feet, its fuselage length 99 feet. The weight of the plane for normal takeoff is about 120,000 pounds.

Normal crew is made up of 12 men and officers.

Production of the B50 was started in 1944, but only within the last year have deliveries increased to the point where operational units began receiving the bombers.

Air Secretary Symington disclosed plans a year ago for equipping the Strategic Air Command with "tanker" planes. He said then some units would be outfitted by early 1949.

Later, it was reported the Air Force contemplated equipping six groups of B29s and B50s for this ultra-long range type of operation. A group normally consists of 30 planes of those types, now classed by the Air Force as medium bombers.

The heavy-weight class now is for such giants as the six-engine B-36.

At each of the refueling bases, four or five converted B-29 tankers were assembled. However, the plane used only two at each refueling, with one plane pouring its supply into the bomber, then another following up to finish leveling off the gas load.

Preliminary plans called for a circumnavigation of the globe almost equal to its greatest flight. The flight plan was originally estimated at 23,000 miles, but deviations from the planned course were expected to add to the length.

The flight was not an official record-breaker for distance or time—because it did not follow the old prescribed setup by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. That course was set up in the days when round-the-world trips were a series of hops, with pre-scheduled fields established by the rules for refueling.

On the takeoff, the plane used approximately 6,200 feet of the runway.

The flight was classified by the Air Force as a training mission and was part of a continuing program of in-flight refueling training flights, which will be flown to all parts of the world.

The "Lucky Lady II" made hourly position reports to L. C. A. O., the body which monitors international civil aviation, and TI Airways and Air Communications Services. The latter organization relayed the communications to Strategic Air Command headquarters at Offutt Airforce Base, Omaha.

China Hopeful Of More American Aid

Nanking, March 2—(AP)—Official Chinese circles today welcomed reports of a proposed $240,000,000 aid program from the United States.

The first reaction of Chinese government officials to a Washington report that such a program was under consideration was a prediction that national morale would be boosted. One official suggested that disclosure alone of the contemplated program might strengthen the bargaining position with the Communists.

The present aid program to China is scheduled to expire in April. Efforts to get more American aid—up to $8,000,000,000 over a three year period have been made.

Among subjects said to be under discussion by Li and Premier Sun Fo is a partial reshuffle of the cabinet.

Whereabouts of the Chinese navy's flagship, the cruiser Chungking, remained a mystery.

President Holding Night Conferences

Washington, March 2—(AP)—President Truman got a forecast of "very good" business prospects today as the White House disclosed that he has been holding unpublished night talks with leaders of the nation's economy.

The estimate on the outlook came from two of his three official economic advisers. But they cautioned that one people must be prevented from getting a "distorted psychological fear of the situation."

The two—Leon Keyserling and John D. Clark—called a periodic oral report on the economic situation. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the Economic Council, is on the west coast.

The word that the president is holding periodic night informal sessions at the Blair house of business, finance, agriculture, and labor came from Eben Ayers, assistant presidential press secretary.

Ayers told reporters that Mr. Truman is doing this to keep himself informed on all phases of the situation throughout the country.

Death of Bright Angel

Chapter 12
"DON'T you think that might be difficult, Monsieur—no: to say risk?"

"Difficult? Risky? Bonneville resembled a startled fish. 'Do you say those words to an officer of Napoleon, sir? Do you realize that the power of France—'

Rivers snapped his fingers under the little man's nose causing him to jerk his head back like a startled parrot.

"Napoleon and France are a long way off. And you seem peculiarly discounting—not to say offensive. At least, I and you say."

Bonneville giggled. Then he found his voice.

"Do you realize what you are saying?" he demanded. "I am to give the word—cry the word—"

"That?" Rivers enquired, gravely polite. This was not at all the way he had planned to conduct what should have been a circumspet interview. But the perverse devil which was never far from the surface in him was in full command now.

Bonneville was shaking with fury. "Monsieur!" he gasped. "I place you under arrest!"

"How?" Rivers asked, gently.

"How? My man! My gun! If I give the order, then with the crossblade we will sink you!"

"Perhaps. But if it comes to that, we might sink your little boat instead. We've the guns to do it! And besides, if you give such an order—how about your own ship? Have you given thought to the fact that you are here, where a crossblade might as likely hit you as myself? And what of the ladies, Monsieur? Surely you have not given proper thought to a blow?"

"The ladies?" Bonneville enquired. "What about the ladies?"

"Just this, Monsieur. My meat they would not doubt find tender and palatable, since I am of a

Heavyweight Situation Is Snarled Up

Miami, Fla., March 1—(AP)—Two world heavyweight boxing "champions" and a bitter brawl for financial control of the ear-scrambling trade are the likely results of Joe Louis' decision to re-retire and become a promoter.

The two "champs" probably will emerge from this scramble. 1. Winner of a 15-round Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott bout, to be promoted by Louis and his associates in June, will be recognized by the National Boxing Association.

2. Jack Solomons, British promoter, will claim the title for the survivor of a series involving Lee Savold, Bruce Woodcock and Freddie Mills.

Attitude of the New York State Athletic Commission, the only major ring group not associated with the NBA, is not definite. Chairman Eddie Egan probably will receive a copy of Louis' retirement today. He has indicated that he prefers an elimination tournament to select a champ but expects no immediate action.

Louis touched off this wild scramble in surprising fashion when Abe Greene, NBA commissioner, made public a letter in which the Brown Bomber formally resigned as champion.

In his letter to Greene, Louis wrote that he had entered a partnership with Arthur M. Wirtz and James D. Norris to form the International Boxing Club. He asked for and was given permission by Greene to run the Walcott-Charles fight for the championship in June.

Under the provisions of the Walcott-Charles bout, and as announced by Louis, the winner must defend his title within 90 days after their June fight.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 2—(AP)—Two of the hottest teams in the country, the Stroh's Bohemians of Detroit and Miller High Life of Brooklyn, are scheduled to make their bids today in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Stroh's is captained by "Parson" Bill Kenet, former national doubles match game champion. All of its members average 200 or better.

Stan Slominski, the country's most talked of bowler, will head the Miller High Life team. Slominski recently averaged 217 in winning the national doubles match game crown with Johnny Daymon in Philadelphia.

Activities in the tournament today may overshadow those of yesterday when a few minor changes occurred in the standings.

Horace Walker and Bill Rose, of Philadelphia, moved into sixth position in the doubles with a 1292 score. Walker also had an 1837 total for tenth place in the all-events.

Brookville Beaten, 48-31, By Franklin

The jet-propelled Franklin high school basketballers avenged one of their two losses this season by dumping the Brookville High squad, 48 to 31, on the Franklin court last night.

The outcome of the game was of particular interest here since Brookville comes to Warren Friday evening for a post-season clash with the Warren Dragons.

The tilt, slated for Beauty gym at 8:15 o'clock, is sponsored by the Sports Boosters Association of Warren as a benefit for the War Memorial Athletic Field Fund.

The Nursermen got the jump on the Brookville team and led all the way. Bill Richardson was high scorer for the victors with 41 points, while Jack Hepler paced the Brookville team with seven units.

The scholastic basketball spotlight tonight will center on two Class C playoff games.

The first will pair the classy Tionesta team against Stoneboro on the Lincoln Junior High floor at Oil City. This game is one of the playoff series for the District 10 Class C crown.

The second game is slated for the Kane high school floor where Wilcox will tangle with Smethport in one of the playoff games that will eventually decide the Class C champion of the sprawling PIAA District 9.

The Wilcox team, coached by Tony Kluge, of 24 Plum street, Warren, won the right to meet Smethport by defeating Sheffield on the Kane floor Monday night.

23 Players Are Still On the Holdout List

By The Associated Press

Major League baseball teams entered the second day of their 1949 spring training sessions today with at least 23 players still dickering for more money.

The 16 teams began preparing for the 1949 grand yesterday with light workouts, pepper games and bull sessions.

Cleveland's World Champion Indians, operating out of Tucson, Ariz., permitted four of their dissatisfied athletes, Pitchers Gene Bearden, Will Hefsey and Infielders Joe Gordon and Roberto Avila to work out. Hurrier Bob Lemon, also a holdout, was not in camp.

The National League champion Boston Braves, training at Bradenton, Fla., listed five holdouts.

A new overseas relief project is just getting under way locally, namely the good used clothing project at the Methodist church. Rev. E. W. Chittester has secured a bag for overseas relief, which Mrs. Nellie Anderson, Mrs. Charles Dyer and Mrs. Mark Sturwin will pack. Clothing should be brought to the Methodist church for packing and shipment.

One thing that makes bridge popular is that a player never becomes so good that he is perfect. Sometimes a tournament player who is not classed as an expert will make a play that is raised by one who is considered tops in the country.

That occurred on today's hand in the recent Vanderbilt Cup tournament, which was won by the team of Charles S. Lochridge, Lee Eisen, Harry J. Fishbein, Morris

★ WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

MUS! Be sure to tell Mattie Brown a good news: she'll tell everyone in town, said a housewife with a mischievous twinkle in her eye.

And that set me to thinking. Maybe there is a place in the world for gossip, after all. They pass along facts we would like to keep hidden at home, and for that reason we look down our noses at them.

But they pass along the good news, too. Tell the Mattie Browns of the world about a piece of good fortune that has come your way, and pretty soon the whole town knows about it.

Because the Matties are interested in everything that happens to other people. And they like to be the first to spread the word.

FUN WITH MATTIE

It's an awful letdown to tell a piece of wonderful news to the indifferent woman who passes it off with a casual "Is that so?"

But it's kind of fun to tell it to a Mattie Brown, watch her face light up as she thinks to herself: "I must be sure to tell that to so-and-so."

So maybe the gossip has a place in the world after all. We don't like her when she passes along a bit of news we don't want passed along. But when we've something good to tell, we can't wait to get to her.

Because of all the severe indictments that can be made of her gossip, nobody can accuse her of being indifferent about what happens to other people.

those who gave their all in defense of our land," the booklet says. "The creation of such living monuments would be infinitely more proper than the construction of inanimate structures that serve no useful purpose."

"It would seem that we, the living, might well create a living memorial in their honor and also bring joy and comfort, and some relief from an ever increasing tax burden, to those to whom we shall pass on the torch of freedom from oppression and depression."

"The department of forests and waters," according to the booklet, "is hopeful that the various subdivisions of our state government will realize the advantages in the way of prompt acquisition of lands suitable for the establishment of community forests. It will lend its services and cooperate to the fullest extent toward that end."

"The department welcomes requests for its aid in helping communities to take the initial steps in the acquisition of suitable lands and their management as community forests."

Forests Of State Title Of Booklet

Harrisburg—A new booklet issued by the state department of forests and waters, entitled "Community Forests," is designed to promote a practical method to "put idle and misused acres of land back to work producing raw materials."

Illustrated with scenes of "reclaimed" idle lands; photographs of acres that could and should be planted with forest trees, and others showing advantages to the public as localized recreational features, the 22-page booklet is designed to attract attention of local public officials and community service leaders.

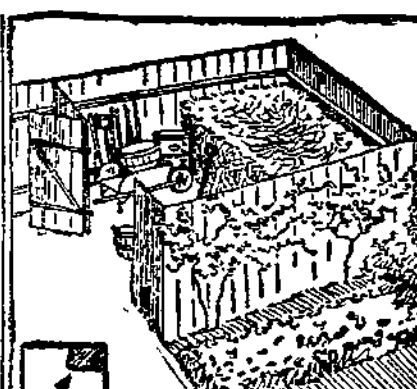

"One of the most important features of Pennsylvania's attempts to bring back 'Penn's Woods' to a point where they can economically fit into the scheme of the commonwealth's everyday resources is the public consciousness of the value of woodlands in recreational and financial returns," Forest and Waters Secretary M. F. Draemel said in the "Forward" of the booklet.

"As a consequence of misuse, millions of acres of land once fertile and productive are now denuded and unproductive," he added.

The booklet, prepared by the department's bureau of forests, points out that "Pennsylvania has the distinction of being the first state to enact legislation (P.L. 124, April, 1909), permitting political subdivisions of government to acquire lands for the practice of forestry," and that there are at least 112 community forests in this state today with a total area of about 131,279 acres.

"It is appropriate... that a community forest be designated as a 'memorial forest' and dedicated to managed compost pile is to set aside a suitable location, out of the way, and preferably screened by a fence, or a fence, 10 x 10 feet would be an average size. Clear off all vegetation, and harden the surface by rolling. Pile evenly over this area all dead leaves and other waste plant and even animal material from your garden, and from kitchen wastes. But carefully exclude, if you would avoid trouble, all wood, branches, twigs and metal objects. When the layer, well tramped down, is six inches thick, sprinkle it with a balanced fertilizer mixture, about one ounce to a square yard. Wood ashes and lime-stone are also beneficial, each in three or more times this quantity. Build up the heap, layer by layer, with similar applications between the layers; and keep it moist. If bad odors develop an inch of soil thrown on top of the pile will prevent them. When the pile is as high as you can conveniently manage, cover the top with soil and let it stand until you are ready to dig the humus into the garden. Start a new one to take care of current accumulations.

Wherever gardeners meet, talk about "organic gardening" is likely to be heard, and loudly. But do not let this clamor, which is often accompanied by arguments about compost, frighten you out of making your leaves this fall.

All you need to do to make leaves turn into humus, is let them alone. For the sake of neatness, it is well to rake them up, and pile them in a corner where they will not be in the way. But nature will do the rest in due time. Two years from now you will have a precious store of leaf mould without any further trouble. And once the annual practice is established, then every year a crop of humus, thoroughly decayed, is available for spreading on your garden.

Methods of management, which may seem elaborate, are justified on two points, first they can speed up the rate of decay, so that compost is available in one year instead of two; and second, where room is at a premium, they confine the compost pile in reduced space, and improve its appearance.
